21

THE PRISONERS OF NEW-GATES

CONDEMNATION.

Declaring every Verdict of the whole Bench at the Sessions House in the Old Bayly. April 22

With the Jesuits and Fryers being censured by the Parliament, five Fryers being examined by a Committee in the Court of Wards. With their Confessions at the same time, Also those 18. that were suspected to adjoyn with the Irish Rebels, with a Pilgrim, and four more Irish souldiers.

Likewise a Relation of him that killed Sir Henrie Paget, and many other Fellons. With the Names of every particular one.

Wherunto is annexed, more Exceeding true and joyfull News from Ireland, Describing a great and Bloudy Battell fought in the Neweries, by Sir Henry Tichbourn, Sir Charles Coot, and Captain Marro, with 3000. men, against 10000. of the Rebels, April 17. 1642.

Imprinted at London, for H. Blunon. 1642.

THE PRISONERS OF NEW-GATES CONDEMNATION.

Declaring every Article of the whole Tenth of the Sessions Imposition Old Bayly, April 22 1646.

With the Juries and Evidences being cenfured by the Prisoners, the Jury being examined by a Committee into the Court of Wards. With their Confessions at the Bar, and their Answers thereunto.
Impeached to adjourn with the Intl. Rebels, with a Pilgrim, and four more Irish Indictments.

Likewise a Relation of Him that killed Sir Henry Paget, and many other Fellons. With the Names of every particular one.

Whereunto is annexed, more Exceeding true and Joyfull News from Ireland, Declaring a great and Bloudy Battell fought in the Newerie, by Sir
Henry Tichborne, Sir Charles Coot, and Coll Brain Mervo, with 3000 men, against 10000 of the Rebels, April 17. 1646.

Imprinted at London, for W. Gilbertson. 1646.

THE PRISONERS OF New-Gates Condemnation.

NEw-Gate hath not bin more repleniſhed with Priſoners theſe many years then now, there being very nigh 300. priſoners committed to that infamous Caſtle of Miſery.

But not to deviate too far, or to treſpaſſe on the Readers patience with a tedious and preliminary diſcourſe, I will abbreviate Hypotheticall ſuperfluities, and inſiſt upon the intended ſubject.

But as the atracity of the crime, ſo the perſons ought to precede: wherefore I will begin first with the 7. condemned Jesuits, the 6 Popish Priests were heretofore condemned according to the Law, and Justice of the Realm, being apparently found such pernicious enemies to the state: but the Kings mercy being graciously extended to them, they obtained a Reprieve from His Majesty; Whereupon did arise a tumultuous mutiny among the other Prisoners, who refused to dy without the Jesuits: but afterwards they were pacified in a pacified tranquillity.

Notwithstanding, the Parliament petitioned to His Majesty, that Execution might be imposed on them; but the King would not condiscend thereunto, till His further pleasure: wherefore they have continued secure in New-gate ever since, one man being solely excepted, viz. Gardiner, who dyed last Good Friday, and at once deceived both Gregory and Tyburn.

But since the Parliament have repetitioned to His Majesty, that they may be now executed, in regard they were such obstacles to their assiduous proceedings: His Majesty replyed, that if they were the obstruction, and hinderance of Reformation in the Church, hee desired that they they might be forthwith executed, without any further delay.

The Names of the Iesuites.

Rivers, Norton,
Canon, Hamin, Winfall, Coleman.

The 18. Irish men, that were suspected to be Rebels, being formerly examined before the Parliament, all the Servants, Sea-men, and Souldiers, were remitted, only the Master of the ship, the Captains, Lieutenants, and Ancients were detained, who still continue in the Prison: but they have not come as yet to their Examination before this Court; wherefore it is to be expected, if the Parliament themselves will censure them.

The 10 that lately were committed to New Gate, five of which were Fryars, four souldiers, and a Pilgrim, were examined before the Parliament: the Fryars were examined last Wednesday was

was Sevennight, before a Committee in the Court of Wards, who demanded of them their intents, in comming over to Ireland, and to what effect: four of which very peremptorily denyed, and said, that they came over with occasions of Merchandize, &c. but one of them betrayed the rest, and affirmed, that they were Fryars, and came over into England to save souls for Heaven.

The other 5. were carryed to Westminster last Saturday was a Sevennight, before the same Committee in the Court of Wards.

The Master of the ship being called first, did show a Commission unto them for his going; they then asked him, whether he would take the Oath of Allegiance, which he was willing to take; but when they asked him of the Oath of Supremacie, he replyed, that he was an ignorant man, and did not understand what it meant: three of the other could not speak one word of English, wherefore the Master did interpret pret what they ſpake: it ſeems by the expoſition of the Maſter of the ſhip, that they have bin in ſervice under the Prince of Orange half a year, they were taken Captives at Flanders, they ſerved in France two years, and half a year in Spain, and now come into their own Country: this was their true and Reall Confeſſion before the Committee.

One Robert Butler, living formerly at the Bever Tavern in S*t*. Giles in the Fields, who killed Sir Henry Paget, as was ſuppoſed in his own defence, was called before the Court laſt Thurſday, but his Caſe is removed by the Lord Paget into the Kings-Bench.

One Francis Robſon is caſt for his life, for taking 100.l. from a Gentleman, ſcuffling in company, &c.

Ann Hall is caſt for her life, being taken for a Fellon.

One Sparrow likewiſe is caſt, for ſuſpition of taking a Cheſt of Plate out of an Houſe.

More

More exceeding true and joyfull Newes from Ireland.

Loving Brother:

ON the 4. of this month, I received your Letter, being sorry to hear such bad news from you; and wheras you writ to me, to send you word how passages went with us here, I thought it convenient, to send you these Occurrences following.

Upon the 17. of this present month, there was a great and bloudy battell in the Neweries, fought between 3000. men of our side, under the Command of Sir Hardie Tichborne, Sir Charles Coot, and Captain Mervin, against 10000. of the Rebels, conducted by the great Rebel Mondarro, and after a long and tedious Battel, they put the Rebels to flight, kild 2000. of them, and wounded the Lord Mondarro; of our side were slain 300. they are intended to fight a great Battel about the 25. day of this month. We had tydings brought to our Army, April 12. that Sir Phil my O-Neal hath got a great army, intending to give Battel against us in the Neweries. Captain Marro received a Letter from Collonel Gore, in the North of Ireland, relating how they had defeated six Regiments of the rebels forces, but my Lord of Munster hath had some stone there.

So I rest, your loving Brother,

Ordered by the Lords and Commons in Parliament, that the Lord Howard of Char, shall attend upon the King, and present some Reasons unto His Majesty.

John Brown Cler. Parl.

22

A TRACT CONCERNING SCHISME AND SCHISMATIQVES.

WHEREIN,

Is briefly discovered the originall causes of all Schisme.

Written by a Learned and Judicious Divine. Hales of Eaton

TOGETHER,

With certain Animadversions upon some Passages thereof.

OXFORD,

Printed by LEONARD LICHFIELD for Edward Forrest. 1642.